

Katherine Klamm Bio

Katherine (Kathy) Klamm is a private studio teacher in the Colorado Springs area. Kathy graduated from the University of Central Missouri with a degree in Vocal Music. While studying voice she became a member of the Pi Kappa Lambda Music Honorary. She taught Jr. high vocal music for several years in the Kansas City area. After receiving graduate level vocal training, she became a member of the National Association of Teachers of Singing inc. She was active in the local chapter, helping to organize and run vocal competitions. While living in the Kansas City area Kathy maintained a private studio and was a member of the Kansas City Fine Arts Chorale. In 1996, Kathy was awarded a Missouri Fine Arts Academy Teacher Appreciation recognition in Springfield Missouri. In 1997, along with husband Tom, Kathy moved to Colorado Springs where she established a voice studio and became a member of the Abendmusik Choral Ensemble. Soon after, she began vocal coaching for the Widefield school district, preparing High School Students for All State Choir Auditions. She has worked with students from all over the area, including Woodland Park. Some area Choral Directors are former students and a significant number of High School students go on to study college vocal music. In recent years, three of her students have placed first in the Pikes Peak Opera League Young Voice Competition. Presently, she maintains a busy studio and serves as vocal coach for Abendmusik. Her specialty is the High School voice, but she loves all ages of individuals seeking to learn the use of a healthy voice.
