

Lynn Godfriaux Maloy, MM, NCTM, received her degrees from the University of Oklahoma. Her teachers include Dr. Digby Bell, Dr. Edward Gates, Dr. Keith Wallingford, and Dr. Alvin Chow. She has presented during state conferences as well as MTNA national and Mu Phi Epsilon international conventions, and she is an international resource on dyslexia in the music field. Former students have gone on to attend college music programs nationally and internationally. Despite struggling with dyslexia herself, she actively performs regionally and nationally, and maintains a private studio in Colorado Springs.