PPMTA is proud to present pianist Dr. Andrew Cooperstock in a concert oriented toward young music students and aspiring performers. In an entertaining manner, he will tell the story of his journey from a beginning piano student to his international renown as an accomplished solo and chamber music performer. In this concert, he will play pieces that he learned in various stages of his musical development. A graduate of the Julliard School and the Cincinnati and Peabody Conservatories, Dr. Cooperstock is currently Professor of Piano at the University of Colorado Boulder, among other faculty positions in Germany, Austria and China.
